Yesterday was a big day in the Wichita union stock yards.

Yesterday's clearings amounted to $123,549.88 against $115,300.78 the same day last year.

The muddy roads cut short the local grain market yesterday and day before, but rail shipments held their own.

Dean Adams is getting lots of newspaper notoriety in Chicago and it is generally conceded that he understands the secret of getting free advertising.

Rev. J. D. Hewitt, D. D., will preach from his old pulpit today at the First Presbyterian church, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. David Winters.

Mr. W. J. McLean, the freight man for the Rock Island, is reported on the sick list. He seems to think some sort of a grip has the under hold on him.

Mr. Joe H. Lindsey returned yesterday from Medicine Lodge and vicinity, and reports business good amongst the buyers and sellers of farm property.

There is not a better town in America or Texas today than Wichita as some fellows are going to find out to their cost. But it is best that they find it out themselves.

Rev. David Winters, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will occupy the pulpit of Dr. Brooks, of St. Louis today. We congratulate the people of St. Louis on the opportunity of having the talented preacher.

There hasn't been a great state gathering of any character in Wichita in a year that it hasn't proved stormy and muddy. Its too bad, but they are just as welcome and we try just as hard to make them happy.

At the annual meeting of the Bar association on Tuesday evening the retiring president under the rules makes a speech. The attorneys are expecting something spicy, and Judge Slaus seldom disappoints his friends.

Some miserable fellows broke open the "birthday box" of the Y. O. S. C. E., of the First Presbyterian church last Sunday and stole the contents. A man who could be guilty of such an act is not fit to live in a christian community.

J. W. Cooper, of Ashland, treasurer of Clark county, is the guest of Mr. W. R. Payne. He will be in attendance at the immigration meeting commencing tomorrow. He says quite a delegation can be relied upon from his county to be in attendance.

Mr. I. L. Seward reports a family of six persons in a dilapidated house on Dodge avenue, west side, who are in a deplorable destitute condition, the father, mother and three of the children being sick, with next to nothing in the way of furniture and clothing, and no food save what little the child that is not sick can secure by begging. The mere mention of the fact is enough to insure prompt relief for them.

Mr. J. A. Smith, trainmaster of the Rock Island at Herrington, was in the city yesterday and told some interesting stories about that town and who is well known in Wichita. He says the "farmer" estimates his crop of grapes next year will make 14,000,000 gallons of wine; that while making the statement he holds an earnest face and looks just like he thought he would probably make a little more than that, so he did not want to overestimate for fear he might be considered on the exaggeration style.

REVERSING THE ORDER OF THINGS.
Today the Carey will change the order of things a little, setting lunch from 2 to 2 and serving dinner from 6 to 8. This arrangement will be tried today for an experiment, and the order of things will be resumed again on Monday. Many of the guests openly advocate this change, but the main reason is in order to handle the large number of guests for Sunday dinner with greater ease. Late dinner also enables the host to himself better justice, and the arrangement is likely to meet with general favor.

THE MANUFACTURERS' EXHIBIT.
It was quite lively at the board of trade rooms yesterday. Quite a number of visitors were on hand inquiring about Wichita and the southwest. Among the industries added to the exhibit for the city were: Oliver & Imboden company roller mill with a fine exhibit of flour; Getto & McClung shoe factory with shoes in neat cases; Wichita Paper Box factory with specimens of their work; Wichita soap company with specimens of their soap manufacture arranged a very interesting exhibit.

The secretary and leading members of the board are very much pleased with the collections coming in and with the answers returned to the questions asked. The part of those engaged in the manufacturing business to make a showing collectively that will be of great benefit in giving visitors information concerning the city.

BUSINESS MEN ATTENTION.

There is a meeting called for the business men of this city at the board of trade rooms Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Every business man in this city can well afford to give an hour to a very important meeting, and every business man who fails to be there will be excused from criticizing any other business man's want of public spirit for at least a year. Remember that this meeting is not one for the members of the board of trade, but for every man who is doing business or who has an interest in the city. At 2 o'clock of the biggest, one of the most immensely attended conventions that ever assembled in the state will be called to order in that building. The work of getting this convention together has been done by a few and there can hardly be a sufficient excuse for any business man failing to be present at the morning meeting. It is a duty before business and a business in which all are interested alike. Make a mental note of this now and don't fail to remember it tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

ROSES FROM GALVESTON.

Mr. Cash Henderson, who returned yesterday from a flying trip made to Galveston, brought us back a newspaper full of roses whose fragrance has held away all day in our sanctum. Red and white, yellow and pink, cream and crimson, they reached our table in all their southern glory, and to the taste of that gentleman no less than to the good will which suggested such a tribute, our acknowledgment is made.

And speaking of flowers and the land of the south, the writer, only a few days since, accompanied a number of newspaper gentlemen and their wives, who had the Queen of the Gulf at a visit. One hundred miles this side we were met by a committee of Galveston gentlemen whose introduction was a magnificent bouquet of cut flowers for each of the ladies. Of course our party was led captive from that hour. The fairest of all God's works, women and flowers, from the one coming man's first notion of immortality, from the other its possible beauty and glory combined in a sunny land, and what more would have been asked. If angels are painted fair to look like women, surely the painter robbed the rose to get his colors.

And this reminds us further that our party had a delightful time in that city on the water, by whose foundations as ever lapped by the waves of the ceaseless sea, the inmates of those flower embowered homes are lulled to sleep by the soft breeze, with wings laden with the murmur of the ocean's spray, we intended to write something, and will probably some day if we don't forget it. But Henderson's roses takes us back to an oyster bake, tendered our party by leading citizens, which was replete with roses and abundant fun. In the morning we had gone on to the jetty or near the water, in an open car. The wind was blowing "great guns" and the briny spray dashed with such impetuosity against the stone works as to baptize, in the Methodist mode, most of the party. On our return the United States revenue cutter took us all aboard, and as she headed for the outer waters our ladies were delighted with the rolling porpoise upon every side and the cloud of white gulls which hovered in gentle beauty all about our heads for miles out. Once over the bar our cutter seemed inclined to imitate the flight of the gulls, for a moment on a billow, the next plunging head down into the yawning breach of waters. A pale face here and there was the captain's signal for "boat facing." And then came a three mile ride down the beach to an oyster bake. There were well we want say what there was, except that there was a great fire and tables, and plates, and flowers, and forty barrels of oysters for party and only about two hours to eat them in. We shall never forget the pathetic sight afforded by our friend O'Connor, of the Emporia News, who in frantic looks and sweat bedewed brow was endeavoring to open red hot oysters as fast as a fair girl in red, and to the manor born, could swallow them. Every other fellow was permitted to do the clam and pry act for his wife, who knew no more about the business than himself, but O'Connor had no wife—never had one—and that southern girl did not dream but that any man who was smart enough to edit a paper could open oysters.

REFUSING BRICK.

The superintendent of the Fifth Ward school building being erected, Mr. S. Taylor, who was appointed by the school board to look after the city's interest in the building, was called yesterday morning that the contractor wanted to put in the building. The brick came from the Forest City plant, and when the contractor learned that the brick had been refused he got red in the face and struck out with spurs after the building committee of the school board.

One of them said last night that should the superintendent who had been appointed by the board to look after the city's interest in the building, it would be a good fault, but he did not by any means want it inferred that he thought the brick rejected good enough to put in a school building.

But in the Third ward the trouble about beating business seems to be coming up again. The board of trade, Fuller & Warren, claim they have not room to get up a good heat, accompanied by ventilation. They want more room, and to have a higher basement will cost more money, and the board is interested in that part of it, and the contractor's seems also to think he is interested. The trouble seems to be very much the same as that down at the first ward with the Smead people. But the fight in the board will be turned around exactly. The Smead fellows will concede, it is said, that the board has spent enough on buildings as contracted to, and if any heating system don't fit a building or the space allowed for it, that's not the fault of the school board, and to get the proper space the heating company must pay for it. The Fuller & Warren members of the board will, it is said, work for a change according to the wishes of the Fuller & Warren people. The fight, as may be observed, threatens to be vice versa the Smead contract.

THE SEWER WORKS.

The lateral ditches of the sewer system are scattering around in a promiscuous way through the upper portion of town. If the sewer committee and the administration don't keep a sharp eye out and the city engineer don't keep his instruments eternally leveled on the work there will be trouble in the future. These officials should remember that the experts for whose opinions they are paid, and who were paid, in writing that in order to have an effective and satisfactory sewer system on the surveys made, that the mains, sub-mains and laterals must be laid with precision. So reads the contract and the officers named are paid to see that just that thing is done.

For the Eagle.

TO MRS. S. D. W.
Last summer time, it was my lot, week have been quite satisfactory, considering the very unfavorable weather. On Friday evening, despite the rain and mud, the attendance was quite good, and several young men and women made a start in the better way. The text of the sermon on that evening was "One thing thou lackest."

The subject of this morning will be "Christian watchfulness." For this evening, "Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting." The subject this evening will be illuminated in a transparency as before. In addition to the other good music, Mrs. D. Smyth and Mrs. J. W. Horner will each sing a beautiful solo, appropriate to the subject. Services will be held at this church every evening this week. Everybody is cordially invited.

MIDLAND MEETING.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Kansas Midland Railway company will be held at the office of the company in Wichita on Tuesday, January 14, 1890, for the election of a board of directors of said company, to serve for the ensuing year, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

THIRD FLOOR FOR AN ARMORY.

Talk About Some of the City Building Space Being Placed for an Income.
Some of the councilmen have been introduced to a scheme which they think may assist in decreasing the taxes in response to the city building. The Light Infantry is looking for an armory and have been for some months with apparently little success. The company can get from the state $300 for armory rent and the boys are willing to add $500 more according to Capt. W. L. Osborne, making $800 rent, which would be equivalent to an investment of $15,000 at four per cent. This amount of $600 is proposed to offer for the third floor of the city building and enter with contract to give that amount for five years.

According to the plans so far the school board alone has provided for arranged for all round purposes and may not be needed for five or ten years. It is thought that the change could be made costing no more and in fact the doing away of the walls for posts would decrease the cost of the building.

In the consideration of the matter a councilman said yesterday that he had no doubt that if some of the room in the city building could be rented so as to bring in some money the tax payers, in his judgment would not object. They could see a reduction of taxes and never flinch. That sort of thing was not productive of anything, it was the increasing of taxes constantly by jerks that caused the flinching. This income, in his judgment, would be looked upon very favorably, but how to bring it about the question. There were always objections to changing plans. People were suspicious that changes meant jobs and jobs meant boodle, and as a rule they were something like that. He thought that the contract had been signed up as a rule expensive for a contractor always hopes to make money on changes, and he had it in his power to either make money or not make the change. Should anything of the kind be agreed upon it should be agreed very soon; else the contractor would be sure to make a change after contract had been signed up as a rule expensive for a contractor always hopes to make money on changes, and he had it in his power to either make money or not make the change.
